УПАТСТВО ЗА КАНДИДАТОТ

Внимателно прочитај го упатството. Не испуштај ништо.

Залепи ја едната шифра на означеното место на тестот („Шифра на кандидатот”), а другата шифра на означеното место на листот за одговори.

Не врти страници и не почнувај со решавање на задачите сè додека не ти каже надгледувачот. Тестот содржи задачи.

На задачите се одговара на еден од следните начини:

- со заокружување на буквата пред точниот одговор;
- со пишување текст во просторот што е предвиден за тоа;
- со пишување одговор на соодветното место во табелите.

Внимавај на јазикот и на правописот во одговорите. Пишувај читливо. Нечитливите одговори, нејасните поправки и заокружувањето на повеќе од предвидениот број опции се вреднуваат со нула (0) поени.

И во тестот и во листот за одговори пишувај исклучиво со пенкало. Одговорите на задачите напишани со молив се вреднуваат со нула (0) поени.

Препишувањето е најстрого забрането. Сите идентични или слични текстови, како и текстовите испишани со различни ракописи се вреднуваат со нула (0) поени.

Покрај секоја задача е даден бројот на поените за точниот одговор.

Задачите се одговараат прво во тестот. Откако ќе завршиш со одговарањето на прашањата во тестот, одговорите на задачите пренеси ги на листот за одговори, според Упатството за пополнување дадено во него.

Ти посакуваме многу успех!

GRAFFITI, VANDALISM OR ART?

When people see graffiti splashed across park walls, shop fronts and subway stations they usually don't stop and think: "Hey, look at that art!"

We meet Banksy, the most famous and controversial graffiti artist in the UK and see why he describes himself as an "art activist."

Banksy is Britain's most famous graffiti artist, yet no one knows who he is. Why? The answer's surprisingly simple - because graffiti is illegal. Even his parents don't know what he does: they think he's a painter and decorator. He didn't even turn up at the opening of his first exhibition in London last summer, because he was afraid the police would arrest him.

Banksy is from Bristol and he started doing graffiti when he was 14. He didn't get on well in school and was expelled. Graffiti made him feel better about himself. By writing his name on things he felt they belonged to him. He is against multinationals and corporate brands though, his name has turned into a brand itself.

The streets are Banksy's canvas. He says he is reclaiming the city in order to give it back to the people. His work includes oil paintings, sculptures and album covers and sells for up to £ 25.000 per piece. He also runs a Buy-One-Get-One-Free scheme, inspired by marketing strategies used by big supermarkets, where he creates two identical works. He sells one of the works and gives the other one free to the local council.

He uses graffiti to 'subvertise' (change something completely by using recognised imagery and icons) commonly held beliefs and ideas. He says: "Colourful scribbles can convert a slum into an art gallery".

(1.1) What is the attitude of the author of the text towards Banksy and his work?

- A. The author thinks Banksy is a vandal.
- B. The author is supportive and tries to explain Banksy's idea.
- C. The author is criticising Banksy and his work.
- D. The author admires Banksy and his work.

3 Here is an interview with Penelope Cruz. Carefully read the interview below and then do the exercises that follow:

Interviewer: 1. _____

Penelope: They are my best friends. They come to all the premieres of my films and we still meet for family meals and occasions. Indeed, I still have the same best friend that I've had for 15 years. All that has stayed the same, thank goodness.

Interviewer: 2. _____

Penelope: I am amazed that everyone wants to know about my love life. Who cares? I don't understand why I have to tell the world about my love life just because I'm an actress. It's a bit absurd. That's why everybody lies so much.

Interviewer: 3. _____

Penelope: I feel privileged to have met Mother Teresa. When I visited her I saw some terrible situations. I feel it's my duty to help when I can. That's why I work with the Sabera Foundation, which helps homeless girls in Calcutta.

Interviewer: 4. _____

Penelope: Hollywood is not real. It's about what you have become, rather than who you really are. I still live in Madrid - that's where my roots are.

Interviewer: 5. _____

Penelope: I want to be taken seriously as an actress. I'm not just a pretty face, you know. And more than anything else, I want to be happy.

(3.1) The questions have been taken out from the interview. Choose the appropriate question (A-F) and put the corresponding letter in the space provided (1-5). Note that there is an extra question that you do not need to use!

- A. What else are you doing besides shooting films in Hollywood?
- B. Are you working on a new film at the moment?
- C. Are you seeing anyone at the moment?
- D. How close are you to your family?
- E. What do you think about the celebrity lifestyle in L.A.?
- F. How important is your physical appearance to you?

4 Carefully read the text below and then do the exercises that follow:

1 Google is a search engine, started in 1998 by Stanford University students Sergey Brin and Larry Page. Search engines are Internet directories, like virtual address books. Before Google, the Internet was a mass of information with no reliable way to find what you wanted. Google is now used by hundreds of millions of people every month. It has become the standard English verb for Internet searching.

2 Google's computers have catalogued billions of Internet pages. If I type in "English lessons" it takes only moments to present a list of pages relevant to my "key words" or "search terms." Google has become the world's top search engine by pioneering a simple page style and page rankings in order of relevance and popularity.

3 As well as searching for words, Google can find images, videos and more. Google Earth zooms in on interactive satellite pictures of the planet. Picasa organises photos; Google Scholar helps you study; Froogle helps you shop. The next generation of Google software will operate phones, mobile computers and MP3 players. And it's almost all free.

4 If people look up "hotels," it makes sense for hotels to advertise on that page. The Internet is more powerful than ads in newspapers, TV and billboards, because people can buy with the click of the mouse. By 2009, UK companies will spend more on Internet advertising than television. Google earns over $ 3 billion per quarter, giving clients detailed statistics about who is searching for what and how many people see each ad.

(4.1) Read the paragraphs (1-4) and then match each paragraph to the most appropriate heading (A-E). Note that there is an extra heading that you do not need to use!

Write the appropriate letter in the answer box provided.

- A. What else does Google do?
- B. So everyone loves Google?
- C. How do search engines work?
- D. What is Google?
- E. How does Google pay for it?
